Young adult caucus ponders grasping faith in an AI world

Young people at the WCRC's 27th General Council are hashing out questions on how faith influences their use of digital platforms and tools and what hope looks like in these hopeless days. Click here.

Churches unite for justice in Kenya and South Africa

In the GRAPE workshop series, religious leaders from Kenya and South Africa are examining how faith intersects with power and how both have been historically used—and continue to be used—to perpetuate systems of domination. Click here.

Religious leaders examine faith and power

In a thought-provoking session of the workshop series "Faith as the Empire's Weapon," religious leaders from across the Americas explored how faith and power have been—and continue to be—used to uphold systems of domination.
